

Title Company Information

How To

Please ensure that...

- You have completed your sales contract and reviewed the document for any errors.
- The sales contract is signed by BOTH the buyer and the seller

Once the above items are complete, you are ready to contact the title company!

The next stage of the sale is to contact a reputable title company. We have provided two examples below. These companies are familiar with the unique sales process required for DVC resales. However, you are free to use whichever title company you choose.

The title company will need copies of the completed sales contract and will send the buyer's down payment form to be completed.

Title Companies
